

35 Stunning Museum Shows to See in New York Over the Holidays, From Renaissance Jewel Boxes to Heart-Thumping Surveys

news.artnet.com/art-world/new-york-museum-shows-to-see-over-the-holidays-1342733

December 11, 2018

Guests visit the new Liliana Porter exhibition at El Museo del Barrio. Photo courtesy of El Museo del Barrio.

It's the most wonderful time of the year... to visit a museum! With central heating, cafes, book stores, and art, you can get a dose of culture while you buy holiday gifts—and keep every visiting family member occupied. Whether you're traveling to New York for the yuletide season, entertaining visitors from various generations of the family, or taking a break from the crowds (and cold), we've scoured the city for the best museum shows to see this holiday season.

Presented by Cartier

“Half the Picture: A Feminist Look at the Collection” at the Brooklyn Museum Through March 31, 2019

In 1989, the Guerrilla Girls released a poster declaring “You’re seeing less than half the picture without the vision of women artists and artists of color.” The Brooklyn Museum looks to rectify that oversight with this selection of 100 works from its collection that engage with political and social issues. Within this intersectional feminist framework, works by artists including Vito Acconci, Renee Cox, Harmony Hammond, Zanele Muholi, Dread Scott, Nancy Spero, Betty Tompkins, and Andy Warhol are spotlighted in ways that are both radical and inspiring.

The Brooklyn Museum is located at 200 Eastern Parkway, Brooklyn. General admission is $16