

Art Across the Park: Enhancing the environment

Art Across The Park will also, included in this open its 1982 series of opening will be a puppet outdoor site works on show by Winnie Blake. Thursday, July 8 in the Thursday, July 15, near northern end of Central Park the Mansion area inside Van with performances and Cortlandt Park in the Bronx, installations by Helen Oji Clifton Webb and Maren and Una Grant. An Hassinger will present their installation at El Museo del Barrio will include the works of Tom Butter, Colo., Maren Hassinger, and Ana Mendietta.

On Tuesday, July 13, the first of a series of work designated for Prospect Park, Brooklyn, will open with the installations of Wilfredo Chiesa and Carlos Dorrien, and Joyce Crain. Lydia Bechera, John Dowell, Hanna Tierney, (Manhattan), Van Cortlandt Park (Bronx), and Prospect Park (Brooklyn) to create an art work specifically for that environment. This will be the first time in over 50 years that the three boroughs — Manhattan, Brooklyn, and the Bronx — have come together to develop one cultural event.

Curated by Gylbert Coker, Horace Brockington, and Jennifer Manfredi, the artists have been selected to represent a cross section of ethnic backgrounds reflective of the cultural and racial milieu of New York City. Aesthetically, the performances, and installations of these artists collectively represent the abstract, surreal, conceptual, minimal, ritual.

All events are free to the public and accessible by public transportation. For specific directions and events call 212-866-7021/666-9505.

Art Across The Park is supported in part by funds from the New York State Council for the Arts, The Department of Cultural Affairs, Consolidated Edison Company.

EXHIBITOR: Otto Neals, a leading sculptor and painter on the local scene, examines one of the works on exhibit in this year's Fulton Art Fair, the 24th held so far, to give artists an opportunity to show their works in the Brooklyn community. (Lem Peterkin Photo)